BREAK-DANCERS AND THEIR SPECTATORS GET ONE LAST CHANCE

Judith Wright Centre and Raw Dance Company present
JUDY BREAKS

Break-dancers and hip hop enthusiasts have one last chance this year to compete in and check out the monthly break-dance competition, Judy Breaks, at the Judith Wright Centre of Contemporary Arts on Friday 11 December 2009.

Raw Dance Company General Manager Jess Chambers (the sister of So You Think You Can Dance winner Jack Chambers) says Judy Breaks has become "Brisbane's hottest competition for break-dancers".

"There are other break-dance competitions in Brisbane but these aren't regular; Judy Breaks is a regular competition and we offer cash prizes as an incentive to get as many different b-boys and b-girls along as possible," Chambers said.

"At other comps, break-dancers pair up before the event, which allows them to rehearse their routines, but at Judy Breaks we draw names out of a hat on the night to pair up the competitors who will battle," she said.

"Because of this we draw a lot of new competitors and the talent is fabulous; the breakers range in age from 12 – 30 years and come from a diverse range of backgrounds," she said.

"It's good to see that a lot of amateur dancers are coming out of the woodworks because generally in Brisbane you see the same people performing and winning. At Judy Breaks we welcome extreme professionals and new-and-upcoming breakers, which allows the new dancers the chance to learn from the professionals," she said.

Australia's Got Talent sensation Dr Rhythm and DJ Chavez host the competition.

Since its inception in August 2009, Judy Breaks has drawn capacity crowds and, for the first time, this December will take place in the 300-seat Performance Space at Judith Wright Centre of Contemporary Arts.
